Dear Board Members

Needless to say, I was taken aback when during the discussion regarding the sand in the water lines, Gerry, Mr. Ramos and the board members, (with the exception of Richard and Ken) claimed that no one had any knowledge as to how the sand got into the pipelines; when in fact the problem was caused by PRT's painters who neglected to cover the opening (sump) to the pipeline prior to sandblasting inside Tank #2.

Apparently, when the painters got through sandblasting the inside of the tank, and before they washed down the inside, they were suppose to have vacuumed out the sump area before painting and putting the tank online. Gerry had admitted to Diane that he did the final inspection but failed to look down into the sump; he just took the painters word that they already vacuumed it out.

The Board has the responsibility, out of respect for the homeowners, to send a letter with detailed instructions of how to file a complaint and get reimbursed for any out of pocket expenses for any damages incurred due to the black sand fiasco.

Happy Thanksgiving to all of you and your families.

Regards,

Jo Anne Carmona
